

What we do

We provide compassionate, specialized care for children who are victims of sexual or physical abuse, while helping them learn to deal with the anger, shame and guilt associated with being a victim of abuse.

We provide individual counseling for child victims and their non-offending family members, family therapy, and support groups for parents.

We provide intensive in-home support for children and their families, where the parents' condition, life circumstances, or the characteristics of the child, can threaten their safety and security. The incidence and prevalence of abuse and neglect, developmental delays, and behavioral and emotional disorders can be reduced!
