Development Director

After earning her Bachelor's Degree from Grand Valley State University, Allysa returned to Kalamazoo to work full time in the nonprofit sector. She has supported fund development at Community Healing Centers since 2012, and has served as Development Director since 2017. She specializes in event planning, grant writing, fundraising campaigns, and donor relations.

Allysa enjoys spending time at home with her husband and four year old son, listening to podcasts, and taking the family dog on long walks. Much of her free time is spent picking up Legos and planning what's for dinner! She is grateful to have the opportunity to work closely with agency donors, funders, and community partners in order to further our mission.
