

Leona Brown-Insley

Child Advocacy Center Therapist

My name is Leona Brown-Insley and I have been working with children and families for over thirty years. I earned my Bachelor's Degree elementary education, including a specialization in early childhood development, from Western Michigan University (WMU). After teaching for many years, I earned my Master's in Clinical Mental Health Counseling from WMU. I have since participated in numerous hours of specialized training to be better prepared to assist children and families who have experienced trauma and specifically childhood sexual abuse.

I started at Community Healing Centers as a volunteer in the Children's Advocacy Center (CAC) in 2011. In 2019, I was thrilled to become a CAC therapist. I am passionate about helping children's voices be heard. I am honored to be able to provide support to the children and their families as we walk through their healing journeys together.
